LATIN TWIST named Foreword Reviews' 2015 INDIEFAB Book of the Year Awards Finalist

NEW YORK, New York—Today, Hippocrene Books is pleased to announce LATIN TWIST: TRADITIONAL & MODERN COCKTAILS has been recognized as a finalist in the 18th annual Foreword Reviews' INDIEFAB Book of the Year Awards in the Cooking category.

Each year, Foreword Reviews shines a light on a select group of indie publishers, university presses, and self-published authors whose work stands out from the crowd. In the next three months, a panel of more than 100 volunteer librarians and booksellers will determine the winners in 63 categories based on their experience with readers and patrons. Here is the complete list:

“The 2015 INDIEFAB finalist selection process is as inspiring as it is rigorous,” said Victoria Sutherland, publisher of Foreword Reviews. “The strength of this list of finalists is further proof that small, independent publishers are taking their rightful place as the new driving force of the entire publishing industry.”

“We are so proud to have the work of our authors recognized amongst many other engaging titles,” said Colette Laroya, Publicity Manager at Hippocrene. “Yvette and Vianney have created a guide to Latin cocktails that has perfected classics like the Mezcal Paloma and Pisco Sour as well as introduced lesser-known treasures like Brazil’s Caipirinha and Borgoña from Chile.”

Foreword Reviews will celebrate the winners during a program at the American Library Association Annual Conference in Orlando, Florida in June. They will also name the Editor’s Choice Prize 2015 for Fiction, Nonfiction and Foreword Reviews’ 2015 INDIEFAB Publisher of the Year Award during the presentation.
